LOCAL BREVITIES.

H. Adolph has a new ad.

The summer of 1901 is a record breaker.

Greater Bonanza makes an announcement this week.

See W. P. McCarver's new ad. He means every word of it.

Robt. Backoff is now domiciled in his recently acquired home on Main street.

The Modern Woodmen expect to have a big picnic at Annapolis next month.

A gentleman by the name of Ferguson has rented the Lopez cottage for the summer months.

There will be an excursion to St. Louis, Sunday, August 11th. Fare for the round trip, $1.50.

A telegraph pole just this side of the Knob crossing was splintered by the lightning Tuesday afternoon.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Sam. Bradley, Arcadia, Mo., Monday, July 16, 1901, a girl. All are doing well.

The present drouth is the most serious with which the people of this section have ever had to contend.

John Leff is confined to his room with a badly sprained ankle, the result of a runaway last Saturday morning.

Baldwin Bros. have an order for 65,000 hubs. They have orders sufficient on hand right now, to keep them busy one year.

Died—Saturday, July 13, 1901, near Ironton, Mo., Blanche, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Twomey, aged one year, two months and seven days.

Silas Vaughn wants the public to know he is still in the restaurant and lunch business. St. Louis ice cream always on hand. See advertisement next week.

George Pasenor, Crowley Edwards, John Brunley and James Russell, four bootleggers, were landed in jail here last Friday. They will each serve thirty days.

The excursion train from St. Louis to the Valley last Sunday consisted of seven coaches and a beer car. The coaches were well filled and the crowd was orderly and well-behaved.

One day this week some well cleaners found a pint bottle of Budweiser in the well of an ardent prohibitionist. How the beer got in such a place is a mystery that will probably never be solved.

The Baptist church and Sunday School will enjoy a picnic at Iron Mountain Lake to-morrow. All who purpose attending will please be present at the church building at seven o'clock sharp.

Died—at his residence in Ironton, after a long illness, Wednesday, July 17, 1901, at 11:15 p. m., John Blencell, aged 44 years, 4 months and 8 days. Funeral will be held Friday, the 19th, at 2 o'clock p. m.

Ice-cream was served in the courthouse yard Tuesday evening by special permission. It had been proposed to serve it in the Presbyterian churchyard, but the serious illness of a lady in the vicinity prevented.

Joe O'Brien had his parents and friends quite uneasy for several days last week. He left Conductor Hall's home in St. Louis July 5th, and was not located until last Sunday, when he turned up safe and sound, and hard at work.

Mr. T. F. Walsh of Grantville has but recently returned from a trip to Oklahoma and Texas points. Mr. Walsh says he saw some fine country in his travels but he is glad to get back to the rocks and hills of Iron county.

Wm. Haller received a telegram from St. Louis last Saturday announcing the birth that morning of a boy to Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Chambers. All are well and Mr. and Mrs. Chambers have congratulations of their Ironton friends.

The courthouse yard having been declared forbidden ground, the A. V. C. B. will give its Tuesday evening ice cream socials in the Presbyterian church lot hereafter. For this concession upon the part of the church people, the band is duly grateful.

There will be a meeting of Ironton Lodge, No. 162, K. O. T. M., on Tuesday, July 23d, at 8 p. m., sharp. All members are earnestly requested to attend. Business of great importance to be transacted.

HOWARD E. MELHADO, R. K.

Mr. W. H. Shelby and family leave to-day for St. Louis, where they will make their future home. Mr. Shelby has been a resident of Ironton for the past six years, and the family have many friends here who wish them well wherever they may cast their lot.

William Odell, a Dent county bootlegger, was arraigned before the U. S. Commissioner here Wednesday. Like most of the violators of the revenue law, Odell insisted he was innocent, but, waived examination, and is now waiting for the federal grand jury to act.

Messrs. J. C. O'Neal, merchant, and W. W. Strother, architect and builder, both of Irondale, were in Potosi Tuesday, on business. Mr. Strother informed us that he is at present engaged in erecting a fine dwelling in Irondale for Mr. Henry Thompson, of Hopewell. Potosi Independent.

FUNERAL LODGE.—The members of Ironton Lodge, No. 244, K. of P., will meet at 1 o'clock, Friday, at their Castle, for the purpose of attending and conducting the funeral of our late Brother, John Blencell. All are earnestly urged to attend.

H. ADOLPH, C. C.

The "Gospel Assembly" will be held in the Presbyterian Church building. The tent was found to be a too expensive luxury. However the building will be made comfortable by a new arrangement for the shutters and windows, and by the use of gasoline lamps for lighting purposes. The ventilation will be good. The congregation will be comfortable in the coolest place in town. Come and see.

Last Tuesday John Peace, a farmer who lives in the Flatwoods, lost a horse in a way rather peculiar. On that day, while mowing a meadow, the team drawing the machine were frightened by a brood of birds disturbed by the mower, lying in their faces. The horses with the mower, ran at breakneck speed until the sickle struck a fruit tree in the field. This threw both horses to the ground, one of them breaking his neck. It is said they were thrown fully thirty feet.

During the storm Tuesday afternoon lightning struck the barn of J. W. Harrell in Belleview. There were seven horses in the barn and all of them were knocked down. Two of the horses belonging to H. M. Collins, the Ironton livery man, were killed. The team had been driven out there by a traveling man, and the horses had been put up for dinner when the lightning struck the barn. The other horses were not badly hurt. Lightning has been playing most singular pranks in this section the past month, and the record of "strikes" has been unusually large.

Mr. Root, Secretary of War, was in St. Louis last week, and Saturday inspected Jefferson Barracks. According to the Chronicle, "he declared that the post would soon be enlarged to its full facilities." "Its full facilities" means much. Jefferson Barracks includes 1,500 acres of ground, and as a shipping or distributing point, it takes precedence over all posts in the country, both in point of location and in transportation. With the enlarged utilization of the Barracks will necessarily come an enlarged utilization of the Rifle Range in this Valley, and next summer will no doubt bring a remarkable change in that now quiet, lonely reservation.

Beginning with next Wednesday evening the subjects at St. Paul's Episcopal Church will be as follows in the order named: St. James, the movement for the change of name, the meaning of ritualism, the practical use of the office of a bishop. With the exception of the first named the design is announced in this course to consider what is most helpful in the work of the church commonly known as the Episcopal and to show that their work will go on the most successfully when the bishops exercise the authority of their office in forwarding it. The proposed General Convention legislation on marriage and divorce may be considered on some Sunday to be announced later.

Sam Calloway, for many years a successful business man of Fredericktown, father of Frank Calloway, who was convicted of the murder of his wife and committed suicide in St. Louis, committed suicide in San Francisco, June 26th, by shooting himself in the head. This sad news given by the Fredericktown Democrat-News, which closes with the following paragraph, completes a most sorrowful chapter of family history and human depravity: "For many years Sam Calloway conducted a successful business in this city, and his word was always considered as good as his bond. He spent thousands of dollars on the education of his son Frank, in whom he thought the sun rose and set. Frank died by his own hands a convicted murderer in the St. Louis jail, his father committed suicide in San Francisco, and the wife and mother is left penniless in St. Louis, and has to depend on the charity of friends for support. Thus the curtain is rung down on a once prosperous and happy family, and why? Whisky."

Died—At the residence of Mrs. J. T. Ake, Ironton, Mo., on Friday, July 12th, 1901, at 7:30 a. m., Mrs. Sarah Boswell, relict of the late Wm. Boswell, aged 86 years, 4 months and 5 days. The funeral was held next day at 2:30 p. m., and was largely attended by friends of the family. Mrs. Boswell was born in Leicestershire, England, but for over sixty years she knew this country as her home. She reared a large family; four daughters and one son survive. Grandchildren and great-grandchildren attended the solemn rites which closed the brief drama of life; brief, indeed, even when the final exit drags upon the wings and the actor "lugs superfluous upon the stage." The span of her existence stretched beyond the scriptural limit, and yet how short the space between the new-born infant's cry in the old English farm house, and the final breath which sunders all fluttering feebly forth in distant land! That there is to useful life was in her accomplished; helpful wife and, loving mother, her hands found out the work set them to do, and did it. For such comes rest eternal, and who shall mourn that the anxious spirit has ceased from troubling, and the weary hands are folded?

R. M. Omohundro, an old resident of Iron county, died at the home of his daughter in St. Louis last Friday. The following is from Saturday's Republican: "Richard M. Omohundro, for ten years a resident of St. Louis, and for more than a quarter of a century identified with the growth and political life of Southeast Missouri, died yesterday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. G. Craine, of No. 616 North Garrison avenue. The body will be shipped this morning to Annapolis, Mo., the former home of Mr.

Omohundro, where the funeral will take place at 2 o'clock to-day. Richard M. Omohundro was born in Fluvanna county, Virginia, in 1823, and spent his youth and early manhood in that place. At the outbreak of the Civil War he entered a Virginia battery of artillery, and served for four years. In 1870 Richard Omohundro came to Missouri and settled in Annapolis before the building of the Iron Mountain Railroad. He was a prominent figure in the Democratic politics in that part of the State, and, although he never held a public office, he was potent in the party councils in that section. He left five children, seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren, all of whom will attend the funeral."

Remember the Arcadia Valley Gospel Assembly will be held in the Presbyterian Church, Ironton, beginning next Tuesday July 23 and continuing until August 7. The night meetings will be evangelistic in character. Rev. H. Magill, D. D., of St. Louis, will have charge at the beginning and preach every night, from July 23 to 26, inclusive. There will probably be no evening meeting on the 27th. On Sunday night, the 28th, there will be a union meeting in charge of the local pastors. Monday night Rev. J. L. Alworth, of Farmington, will preach Tuesday and Wednesday nights, Rev. R. W. Mason, of DeSoto, will preach Beginning Thursday night, August 1, Rev. Chester Birch, the celebrated musical evangelist, will be on hand and conduct the night services to the close of the meetings, August 7. At all the night meetings there will be a large union chorus to lead the singing and a double quartet to provide special music. Also vocal and instrumental music will be given from time to time. Beginning on the morning of the 24th, there will be daily meetings for Bible Study, Workers Conferences, prayer and testimony, and study of "the deeper spiritual life." These meetings will all be in charge of competent leaders, and give promise of great helpfulness to all who may be privileged to attend. We expect a good number of visitors from the neighboring towns, and from St. Louis. Many out of the Valley have expressed concern for the meetings and will come if personal affairs will permit. We have every reason to believe that all these meetings will prove a great blessing to all who desire such experience. A most cordial invitation is extended to everybody in Arcadia Valley and surrounding country, whether church members or not, to come in and enjoy the services, and to help in the good work for the cause of religion in this community. Let this be a time of spiritual refreshing. Let us rise above such discouraging conditions as the oppressive hot weather, and do a good work for our Lord and Master.

A friend, the power of whose pen is far beyond the dead-level of mediocre period-rounding, sends us this thoughtful communication: "An apparently epidemic form of the wandering fever seems to have invaded our peaceful Valley, and seized upon our juvenile population. In what might be called a sporadic form, it has chosen as its victims boys of the most diverse temperment, and contrasting backgrounds; and, as if by an irresistible power, it has hurled them Northward or Southward in the throes of this strange 'Unrest.' It would be well for us, of mature minds, to pause and analyze this factor among us (especially we, who are in any measure affected by the offenders), before we add to the impetus which is rushing our adventurous boys away, by the bitterness or harshness of a passionate retribution. In a certain sense this impulse of wandering, so mysterious in its operation, is entitled to our friendliest interest. Few of us there are, with any stamina at all, who have not felt this mystic longing to get away from the home nest and try our sprouting wings among other scenes. To feel the full ebb and surge of the life-side around us, and to plunge into its alluring depths. In past years these longings had not the stimulus which modern life and literature furnishes to our present-day boy. Travel, Adventure, deeds of heroism and daring—these are the mental pabulum of press and book-maker, while above all and permeating all things is the all-engulfing sense of rushing, rushing, rushing, rushing—the race of the steel motor, the race of the tracks—may, we are vaulting into space itself, and trying to grasp fraternal hands on a neighbor planet! Shall, then, the rod and reformatory counteract these tendencies, as it were, into the boy's nostrils at his birth? Is it not a mark of his virility—that strong impulse to which we owe the memory of Columbus and Plymouth Rock—and, rightly trained, may it not ennoble rather than degrade him? Moreover, the inherited tendency, dating back into the hazy mists of an unknown Past, when tribe and nation took up its endless burden of migration—until the earth should be spanned by wide-eyed travelers—shall this have no part in the plea for a lenient judgment upon the young and thoughtless wanderer? Who of us, at this hour, lives in the city and State of his birth—in the home-stead? We are too ready to measure by unjust standards. The little span of life behind us, even though it be fruited with a bountiful harvest of experience, as the editor so happily and so touchingly portrays in the last issue in his "Thirty-four Years" does not entitle us to ignore the fact that for the boy of to-day, new modes of thought, new standards of conduct, new ingredients in material living, are laying violent and desperate siege to the traditions of forgotten years. A thoughtful mind is appalled in the contemplation of a future so uprooting in its tendency of all our most cherished and arbitrary rules of action and living; still we must also reflect that the new conditions are being met with new organisms to conquer and utilize them, and that the boy of to-day has many a golden promise undreamed of in his wildest day-dream by the hoary-headed Mentor who descends upon the degeneracy of modern life, and sighs for halcyon days that would be sadly out of joint in this new century."

The Best Remedy for Stomach and Bowel Troubles.

"I have been in the drug business for twenty years and have sold most of the proprietary medicines of any note. Among the entire list I have never found anything to equal Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for all stomach and bowel troubles," says O. W. Wakefield, of Columbus, Ga. "This remedy cured two severe cases of cholera morbus in my family and I have recommended and sold hundreds of bottles of it to my customers to their entire satisfaction. It affords a quick and sure cure in a pleasant form." For sale by Arcadia Valley Drug Co.

A Criticism and a Compliment.

IRONTON, MO., July 11, 1901.
To the Editor Iron County Register: MY DEAR SIR: Permit me to make a few remarks upon two items that have appeared in your paper of this date: the one, a reprint from an exchange referring to "typographical errors" and the other headed "thirty-four years." Upon reading the reprint from your exchange, I presume that as you have let it go without comment, you are of the same temper as the writer of the article in question. Did it never occur to you, that instead of these people being carping critics, they are paying the members of your profession the highest compliment possible; that having placed their ideals as to the capabilities of the disciples of Caxton, on the topmost rung of the ladder, rather than being desirous to seek out whom they may devour they are mourning souls, shuddering at the discovery that their ideals are shattered and that their idols are only base metal with feet of clay; and when their favorite Editors, Printers and Devils show their human fallibility, like the ghosts of the House Institute in East St. Louis, they have to wander forth to try and find kindred spirits to solace them in their woe; even if they have to keep their own spirits up by pouring other spirits down. Picture to yourself the feelings of the love-lorn swain who having sent to the printer for publication in a local paper some amorous verses addressed to his fair one, in which he apostrophizes her "Fairy Boots" is made; to praise her "Fairy Boots"; or when they make her totally blind by dropping a most necessary "it". Needless to say, the pen that penned the other article is wielded by a man, who if the form came under his notice before too late for correction would never suffer such inhuman "ellisions, mis-spelt words or pie" to pass; accept this as a tribute from one who is proud to be allowed to sign himself, A FRIEND OF THE EDITOR.

Tual—Kendall.

A pretty wedding was that of Miss Anna, daughter of Mrs. C. Kendall, and Mr. Charles J. Tual, one of Arcadia Valley's prominent young men, which took place at the bride's home, Wednesday, July 10th, at 3:30 o'clock. Rev. R. W. Mason, of DeSoto, officiating. Only the immediate families and few friends were in attendance. Miss Kendall, who is a beautiful girl of brunette type, wore an exceptionally pretty gown of white silk mull.

The parlor was decorated with palms, ferns and cut flowers, pink and white being the predominating colors. The northeast corner of the parlor was banked with a profusion of palms and ferns, completed with a canopy of smilax and ferns. Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by Miss Carolyn Moehman, of De Soto, heralded the entrance of the bridal party. The groom entered, accompanied by Reginald W. Kendall as best man, and Miss Ida May Bradley accompanied the bride as maid of honor.

The gift of the bride to her maid of honor, was a hair barrette, and from the groom to his best man, engraved cuff buttons. A dinner was served immediately after the ceremony, covers being laid for twenty-four. The table was beautifully decorated in carnations and ferns, and white ribbons looped from the four corners of the table to the chandelier. Many handsome presents showed the popularity of the young people. Mr. and Mrs. Tual dispensed with a wedding journey, and will be at home to their friends after July 14th.

Des Arc.

R. M. Omohundro died in St. Louis Friday, where he has been living for several years. His body was brought to Annapolis Friday night and laid beside his wife, who died some ten years ago.

Chas. H. Collins, with his daughter, Mrs. Nettie Chase, went to St. Louis Monday. He is still improving and the trip may help him.

Young Asberry, who had both legs cut off Saturday, at Annapolis, died Sunday, and was buried at Annapolis Monday. This should be a lesson for the boys around Des Arc. I saw a boy come very near being killed here last week. Keep off the train boys, while it is moving.

Stevenson Bros. sales for last month including cash were $4,888.26. The last day's sale, which was pay day for mill No. 1, was $709.30. There are over 90 teams putting on lumber for them at Des Arc, Vulcan and Benson's. They are shipping from 4 to 6 cars daily from these three shipping points.

Rev. Hudson preached at the Baptist Church Sunday night.

First nine base ball team went to Leeper Sunday, but the game did not come off. 2d and 3d nine played at Des Arc.

E. W. Graves is moving one of his mills in Butler county five miles from water. He will lay a pipe under the ground and use a double action Cameron pump. It will be a big undertaking. He is also painting the M. E. Church, South. He says from now on he is a methodist. We are glad to welcome E. W. G. in this Church, from the fact he will vote the Democratic ticket, as he cannot be a Methodist and not a Democrat. He and Bro. Raney will conduct the Sunday School and Prayer Meeting in future. May the Lord help them in their good work.

The Modern Woodmen will give an entertainment at Des Arc next Friday night, the 19th. They will have music and refreshments. All are invited.

Thos. Fitz and his two sons, Sam and Gene, will go on an outing in a private conveyance in the near future. They will take in Ironton, Irondale, the Flat River District, Farmington, etc., and will return by way of Fredericktown. They expect to camp out and have a good time. Geo. W. Wallis may accompany them. ISAAC.

W. H. DELANO, Observer.

During last May an infant child of our neighbor was suffering from cholera infantum. The doctors had given up all hopes of recovery. I took a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to the house, telling them I felt sure it would do good if used according to directions. In two days time the child had fully recovered. The child is now vigorous and healthy. I have recommended this remedy frequently and have never known it to fail.—MRS. CURTIS BAKER, Bookwalter, Ohio. Sold by Arcadia Valley Drug Company.
